SEVERAL "FANS" ON HAND

Mist-Sprayed Game Called at End of Eighth Inning, with Dahlen the Only One to Object.

Several "fans" wandered up to the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon to see the Giants round into their true form and wallop the Brooklyn Superbas in a mist-sprayed game.

A dark and dismal afternoon had set in when the gates were thrown open. A him through the wilderness of seats to a spot directly behind the New York bench, where the view was unobstruct-One or two more joined him before the contest started, but at no time was the attendance worth mentioning.

Victory, however, is as sweet on a wet day as on a dry one, and the Phillies were unable to gain any ground. It grew so dark toward the latter part of the afternoon that the outfielders could scarcely be discerned from the stands and finally Bill Brennan called the game in the eighth inning, with the score Dahlen, the Brooklyn manager, was loath to quit and told Brennan as much. The latter politely informed the manager that Jake Daubert himself had suggested the move, but this did not serve to mollify Bill's wrath.

The Giants swung back on the course as though they meant business, and with A! Demarce holding the reins the Superhas had little to say, even though Nap Rucker, the doughty southpaw, was on the throne. The cartoonist held the visitors to four scattered hits and retired them in order in five out of the eight innings. Some fielding of the highest class helped his cause considscably. It was significant, perhaps, that four of the nine hits picked up by the Giants were equally divided between Chief Meyers and Larry Doyle, who have been something in the way of weak sisters Roberts, a recruit catcherwith the stick this season, as compared with the valiant work they did in the last campaign. Charlie Herzog, who always emerges from the dusk of the bench to greet opposing southpaws, was guilty of two hits, one of which was a double. Arthur Fletcher made the only error of

Williams and Whitney on the defensive The Orange and Black had a good lead n the third set; but Harvard, battling from the rear, drew up level with them and then won out by six games to four. Williams's cannon-like smashes won the fourth and deciding set for Harvard. Regaining his early game form, he whipped the ball across the net like lightning, and it was seldom that Church or Kuhn could do anything with it. Four hard fought sets were required be Haverford, Penn., Sept. 5 .- Harvard fore Washburn and Armstrong, Harvard, eliminated the only contenders she had could claim victory over Law and Kidder doubles. The Harvard players won the pionship here to-day, when R. Norris first two sets, 6-4, 6-4, but with a seem-won it rather easily, 6-2. Williams, by defeating Kuhn in the upper bracket of the semi-finals in singles, made his place in the final secure. Kuhn Washburn, both of Harvard, was not played a better game than the score indicates, and although Williams won in straight sets, he had no easy time of it. The other semi-final match in the singles was unfinished because of rain. When the players left the court Armstrong had won one set, 62, and Washburn had two to his credit, the first 9-7 and the other 8-6.

AMENDS IN DOUBLES

MANY SPIRITED MATCHES

Beekman and Tobey Reach Final Round in Lawn Ten. nis Tourney at New Rochelle Club.

Spirited and at times splashing matches in the doubles enlivened the progress of the lawn tennis tournament on the courts of the New Rochelle Tennis Club, at Wykagyl Park, yesterday. Miss Marie Wagner, paired with Miss Fanny Fish. made amends for her defection of skill on the previous day by winning in the doubles in sensational fashion. Miss Wagner and Miss Fish faced Mrs. Frederick Schmitz and Mrs. Charles F. Porter in the final round, defeating them by a ore of 6-2, 7-5.

In this contest the swift service and elever volleying of Miss Wagner contributed largely to her success. In her territory Miss Fish upheld the general excellence of the team by sending drives sizzling down the alley on the opposite side of the net.

Mrs. Schmitz and Mrs. Porter managed to check the spirited work of their opponents in the second set. Under the generalship of Mrs. Schmitz they lobbed considerably, mixing in the tosses between fast drives. Miss Wagner and Miss Fish were going too well and too steadily, however, and captured the contest after

Leonard Beekman, the Pawling School captain, paired with Allan Tobey, the former Princeton star, won a place in the final round of the men's doubles. The two played under the most discouraging cirmstances, as most of the time that they seld the court against Alfred H. Hammett and J. H. Steinkamp the rain poured down in a way that did not contribute anything o the brilliancy of the contest. The we and sodden ball required a lot of hitting, and it was only after three long sets scored at 6-4, 4-6, 6-3 that Beekman and Tobey came through

Miss Alice Leech and F. B. Guest at round of the mixed doubles. The splendidly timed rallies of the winning pair and their steadiness contributed largely to their success.

The conditions were almost as bad when

Mr. and Mrs. A. Dudley Britton defeated

easily defeated Miss Helen Bernhard at 6-1. 6-1 title for the holding of the Quaker Ridge up will be decided to-day, Maurice I. L.

The summary follows:

New Rochelle men's championship doubles (fourth round)—Maurice I. L. Galvao and Carl Jolliff defeated Richard F. Augur and A. J. Semi-final round—Leonard Beekman and Alian Tobey defeated Alfred H. Hammett and J. H. Steinkamp, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Women's doubles (final round)—Miss Marie Wagner and Miss Fanny Fish defeated Mrs. Frederick Schmitz and Mrs. Charles F. Forter, 6-2, 7-5.

The races yesterday and to-day gave APPEL AND WALKER SCORE. J. W. Appel and W. D. Walker, the leading lawn tennis players of the Millrose Athletic Association, carried off the honors yesterday for New York in the intercity matches against the Meadowbrook Athletic Association, of Philadelphia. The matches were decided on the
